REGION 'ROUND.

What is Going on in the Different Coal Towns.

Miss Lizzie Evans, who lost a limb, has just recovered $2500 from the Delaware & Hudson Co.
A Gypsy camp is located near Beaver Meadow.
Manus Brennan, aged 62 years, died at Lofly from miners' asthma.
The new slope at Colerains has been completed. A tunnel will be driven to the Wharton vein at once.
A Pottsville peddler was held up and robbed of $80 near Hazleton on Friday last.

It is now proposed to build an opera house and market house combined in Hazleton.

On Monday morning next C. O. Smith & Co. will put a gang of men to work on their contract for grading the electric railroad between Mahanoy Plane and this place. They will start with fifty men and as rapidly as they can be procured the number will be increased to two hundred. The contractor's agreement calls for the completion of the road as soon as it can be done with that number of men. The work will be pushed as rapidly toward completion as is possible. The grading will be done and as fast as possible the construction gang will follow and lay the tracks, set poles and hang wires. The trestlings will also be erected with the other work so as to have it all completed at the same time.—Mahanoy Tribune.

Burgess Roberts, of Plymouth, has received a communication from Benjamin Lee, secretary of the State Board of Health of Philadelphia stating that the steamship Belgenland, which recently arrived at New York, had on board several cases of small-pox. Several of her passengers, Huns, etc., by nationality, were destined for Plymouth. In view of the dozens of men of this nationality arriving daily at Plymouth and the celebrity with which they are bundled off to boarding houses all over the town, it is going to be extremely difficult to locate the men referred to and it is quite probable that the disease will soon show itself in Plymouth. The situation calls for the utmost watchfulness by the physicians and health officers and the first suspicious case should at once be isolated.

Last night the Kodak Man witnessed an act of generosity such as would make this world a better place even if all the people were similarly charitable. Six forlorn looking Hungarians were sitting in the smoking room of the Union Depot, anxiously awaiting the night Buffalo express. They had an hour and a half to wait. To one side sat a ponderous, prosperous looking personage reading a novel. In appearance he resembled a high type of traveling salesman. He, too, had an hour and a half to wait, the attendants told him. His eyes gradually wandered from the book to the Huns. He observed them closely. After several surveys of the foreigners he walked to the restaurant and inquired of the waiter what he'd take to feed the lot. The prosperous looking man promptly plunked down the money. The waiter prepared sandwiches and coffee and led the Huns to the counter, giving them to understand that the fine man who had just paid some money was their benefactor. The crude Huns courteously bowed and mumbled unintelligible thanks, which were quietly returned by their stranger friend, after which they fell to eating like wolves.—Bethlehem Times.

MEMORIAL DAY.

General Order From Department Commander Taylor.

Once more the returning spring with its opening flowers resurrects the memory of our fallen comrades and reminds us of the approach of our sacred "Memorial Day." We see them as they fall when more than a quarter of a century ago the flood-tide of death swept them from our march of the passing years, some with the dew of death not yet wiped away and the flowers still fresh sprinkled with the tears of loved ones. Those of us who remain are but few in comparison with those who sleep beneath the ground that shall echo with our solemn tread. Soon we must commit this sacred duty to other hands; let us do it faithfully while we can. It is timely and profitable we should once again repair to the graves of our fallen comrades, and let the memory of their heroic deeds baptize us afresh with loyalty to their heroism and devotion to their country.

Need I urge upon you that each step and action on that day be so fraught with regard for the occasion and reverence for the departed comrades, that we shall command the respect and commendation of every citizen throughout the nation. Let us reverently and tenderly garland each mound where sleeps our comrade, and affectionately think of the unknown and unmarked graves of our patriot brothers, remembering that in this solemn mission we have the sympathy and prayers of the widow and orphan, and the blessing of a grateful republic.

Arrangements will be made by the Posts in this department for the observance of Memorial day, Monday, May 30th, 1892. Comrades are enjoined to see that this sacred duty is performed in a solemn and reverent manner.

For Six Weeks Only.
Fine cabinets, 60 cents per dozen, for six weeks only. Remember, we are on the first floor and no stairs to climb. We make a specialty of children's pictures.

More Arrivals.
Another large batch of Polanders arrived in town this morning. As there is a scarcity of farm hands in Berks county it would be good policy for their friends to send them down there.

The inhabitants of a cheese would outnumber the armies of the world.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Sermon by Rev. Powick in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

On Sunday evening the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church delivered the first of a course of Sunday evening sermons on fools. The subject was "The Evolution of a Fool." The text was from Romans, 1-2: "Professing themselves to be wise they became fools." Evolution has been proclaimed as "the last-born Benjamin of modern science." By this theory it is proposed to oust God from his universe and to account for its existence without him. But the substance of the evolution theory is twenty-four centuries old. Buddha, the Hindu philosopher, was its father. Darwin was its step-father. One of its advocates justly defines it as "continuous progressive change according to certain laws and by means of resident forces." But however men may speculate, the only changes of which man has any certain knowledge, and which are due to "resident forces" exclusively, are not of a progressive but of a retrogressive nature. So far as mental and moral development are concerned the only product of evolution, pure and simple, with which we are familiar is the fool. When man becomes so wise as to rely on resident forces exclusively, the process of "becoming" of which he is the subject ends in a fool every time. The moral fool started with a sufficient knowledge of God. He held the truth in unrighteousness and so the "fool" simply "became"—i. e. evolved. The brightest scholar in the world—the man who is fullest of those resident forces which colleges are supposed to bestow—will soon become a fool if he depends upon "resident forces." The purest saint—he who is most fully possessed of the fruits of spiritual culture—will find if he relies on resident forces exclusively, that his "continuous progressive change" will be downward and backward. Whatever may be the revelations of the microscope and the speculations of the imagination the facts of human history declare in unmistakable language that mere evolutionary processes are downward and only downward and that continually; and that all upward movements are the result of intelligent effort, super-added to resident resources and reinforced by external influences. To see the results of more evolution let a child be thrown on resident resources. Let him care for himself from birth—let him eat what he can get—let him learn what he can pick up—let him read what comes along—let him follow his own inclinations—and what have you got? Will he evolve upward or downward? Is not the world cursed with multitudes of such evolutionary monstrosities? We see then our dependence upon external helps and the importance of loyalty to the truth. It is only because men do not like to retain God in their knowledge "that they become vain in their imaginations and their foolish heart is darkened and, professing themselves to be wise, that they become fools." The subject of the next sermon of the course will be "The Theology of the Fool."

A Corner in Hats.

Some hats are a corner, worth throwing nor taking out of a corner. A good hat is light, durable, simply and a pleasure to the wearer; a bad hat is a weight, powder enough to blow it into perdition. Good hats are no more expensive than bad ones, but bad hats are expensive at any price and sensible men couldn't be paid to wear them. Our #2 hat is a perfect gem, and there is no reason to be without one at this low figure. The same is true of our #30 Neckwear and Suspenders. Good shirts from 25c up to $2. All the newest things in gents' underwear, collars and cuffs. Everything at rock bottom price.
